LESSON TEXT.-Matthew 6:19-34. Mem-GOLDEN TEXT.—"Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all things shall be added unto you."

TIME, place and circumstances the same as in our last lesson.

Suggestion and Practical Thought. Question-How can we live in this world without giving our time and strength to gaining the things of the Answer-God wants us to have the best things of both worlds, but we cannot have the best of this world without seeking first the kingdom of God and its righteousness.

Two Great Treasure-Ideals Placed Before Us.-1. Earthly Treasures, v. 19. "Lay not up," use for needs, but not hoard up merely for the sake of holding possession. "For yourselves," selfishly, without thought of what good can be done with this surplus. Que test of anyone is what he does with his time and earnings beyond what is necessary for his own living and work.

"Treasures upon earth," are the material things, connected with our physical needs and desires, such as money, houses, clothing, food, pleasures.

"Where moth and rust doth corrupt." The orientals had no savings banks, no bonds, in which to invest their wealth: hence costly garments were a favorite way of hoarding wealth. But these had one deadly enemy, the moth. Rust, the consumer, corroder, referring not only to treasures hidden in the ground, but to houses, books, furniture, etc. "Where thieves break through." Lit., "dig through" the "Where thieves break mud walls of a house. The Greek name for a burglar is a "wall-digger."

2. Heavenly Treasures. v. 20. "But lay up for yourselves treasures in Heaven." God wants us to be rich. but with riches toward God, Heavenly treasures. This refers indeed to the blessedness of Heaven, all its rewards, its glories, its joys; but chiefly to the kind of treasures which make Heaven what it is, Heaven begun here on earth through the heavenly life, treasures of character, of enlarged being, of good deeds, of blessed work done, of souls made better, of faith, love, peace, godliness, brotherly kindness, honesty, meekness, and all the fruits of the spirit. These Heavenly riches we may acquire and enjoy here.

Second. The Power of Heavenly Treasures Over Life. v. 21. "For where your treasure is." That which you most prize and love and seek for; that into which you put you life. "There will your heart be also."

Third. A Clear Vision of These Treasures Essential. Vs. 22, 23. "The light," of the body, our earthly tabernac'e, "is the eye," as a lamp is the light of a house. "If therefore thine eye be single," etc., seeing things just as they are, with no double vision.

23. "Thy whole body shall be full of darkness," groping in ignorance, uncertain as to truth and duty.

24. "No man can serve two mas ters," standing for opposite principles. belonging to hostile kingdoms, demanding characters, feelings, lives and fruits that are in essential contradiction of, one another, as light and darkness, god and evil. "Either he will hate the one, and love the other." If ne loves goodness he must hate evil if he loves evil, he will hate the goodness, which interferes with it. cannot serve God and Mammon."

But the question arises: How can we live in this evil world without giving time and strength to the gaining of werldly things, such as money, possessions, houses, clothing, food, and the comforts of civilization?

The answer is: God wants us to have the very best of both the heavenly and earthly, but we cannot have the best of even this world without making God and his righteousness first and chief.

Therefore, do right, seek first the kingdom of God, and do not be anxious lest your Heavenly Father fail to keep his promises.

Illustration. The physician author of Why Worry? has a chapter on "The Doubting Folly," in which he shows the evil of continually doubting whether we have done the right thing. We have all heard of the centipede with its hundred feet "who could no longer proceed upon his journey, when It occurred to him to question which foot he should next advance." It is the worry of continually making new decisions in minor things that exhausts the mind. One great underlying choice (settled once for all carrying with it the whole being) to do right under all circumstances-"the single eye"-both eyes seeing a single purpose-will solve most doubts and questionings.

Civic Virtue.

The happiness of the republic depends on the virtue of its citizens. Political health is as important as physical health. Religion is the guiding star, of nations as well as individuals. It alone can safeguard liberty.-Bishop Conaty, Worcester, Mass.

Home of Sin

Sin is not something that is abroad in the air. There is just one place where it has its home and that is the human heart. It is a taint of nature that has come down from successive generations.-Rev. J. M. Walden, Cincinnati. O.
